Taiwan's Combined Revenue by Car & Motorcycle Dealers Expected to Hit New High of NT$600 Bn. In 2016

By STEVE CHUANG

Fueled by a couple of positive factors, including government subsidies for the replacement of old cars for new ones, persistently weak oil prices and arrivals of new imported cars in the domestic market, Taiwan's combined revenue by car and motorcycle dealers is expected to hit a new high of NT$600 billion (roughly US$19.04 billion) in 2016.

According to data compiled by Ministry of Economic Affairs (MOEA), combined revenue by car and motorcycle dealers in Taiwan totaled NT$501.5 billion (US$15.92 billion) for the first 10 months of the year, up 4.5 percent over the same period of 2015. Based on the figure, MOEA projects revenue for the whole year will likely exceed NT$600 billion.

MOEA notes that automobile & motorcycle dealers' revenue in Taiwan has remained on an upward trend for eight consecutive years since 2008.

In the year, Taiwan saw the revenue slump sharply by 20.2 percent year on year to only NT$341.7 billion (US$10.84 billion) due to price hikes of crude oil (it once hit US$140.7 per barrel) and the global financial turmoil, which severely dampened domestic market demand for cars and motorcycles both.

Thereafter, such revenue recovered to NT$388.9 billion (US$12.34 billion) for a 13.8 percent rebound in 2009, and continued to grow to NT$445.1 billion (US$14.13 billion) for a 14.5 percent growth; NT$513.6 billion (US$16.30 billion) in 2011 for 15.4 percent increase; NT$515.3 billion (US$16.35 billion) in 2012 for a flat growth of 0.3 percent; NT$533.1 (US$16.92 billion) in 2013 for a 3.5 hike; NT$575.7 billion (US$18.27 billion) in 2014 for an 8 percent jump; and NT$582.5 billion (US$18.49 billion) in 2015 for a 1.2 percent increase, as shown by MOEA's data compilation.

Meanwhile, automobile dealers' revenue generated by locally assembled cars in Taiwan for the first 10 months of 2016 rose 1.9 percent, while that by imported cars showed a stronger growth of 8.8 percent. As result, the market share of locally assembled cars has dropped to 60.9 percent so far, compared to 81.4 percent seen in 2008, with that of imported cars having sharply surged to 39.1 percent, compared to 18.6 percent.

Also notable is that among imported cars dealt, makes and models from Japan enjoyed the largest share of 35.7 percent in the Taiwanese market as of the end of October, 2016, while those from Germany and the U.S. commanded a 33.2 percent and 9.1 percent share, respectively. CENS

The four day shows will likely welcome participants from more than 18 countries to use 3,300 booths to meet 7,000 foreign buyers and 40,000 domestic professionals.

Taiwan Delivers Diversity & Agility

The auto parts industry in Taiwan holds a prime advantage for being capable of offering diverse products. It's also known for its agility in meeting the customized specifications of worldwide clients. And the continual quality, innovation and efficiency upgrades by these Taiwanese companies have also helped them to become major international vehicle makers' suppliers and gain a significant role on the global after-sale market. This is underscored by Taiwan exports of auto parts and accessories which reached record high NT$214.5bn (value), to chalk up 3.26% growth on the previously year, reports the Taiwan Transportation Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

Important trends can be witnessed in the areas of vehicle electronics, connected cars and smart vehicles. And the topics of vehicle safety, energy saving and intelligence become the focus. The popularity is based upon Taiwan's outstanding electronics industry that enhances such products as tire pressure detectors, head-up displays, advance driver assistance systems and connected cars.

Three Show Areas for easy 1-stop sourcing

To best present the industry and product trend, AutoTronics Taipei 2017 will unfold in the three exhibit areas, automobile electronic products, automobile electronic components & parts and smart transport service.

In terms of auto part area, TAIPEI AMPA will build upon the success of the Tires and Rims Area with 12 exhibitors using 51 booths in TWTC Hall 1 which attracted strong coverage in 2016.

The promotional campaign has been launched in Chinese, English, Japanese, and Spanish across the world and is reported in accordance with product types which give our buyers from over 128 countries full details and information about the shows. Social media, including Youtube and Facebook and Google are also the channels for buyers to get access to the shows' information. We have been working on the development of car audio systems since 1974. At the beginning, we have a retail outlet handling various types of installation, design, and tuning for car audio systems. By doing so, we have learnt the pros and cons of top car audio brands. In 1994, we officially introduced the “Audio Focus” brand, where Focus is a reminder for our team to aim for perfection—seeing that every detail is not overlooked. Since 1998, we have won numerous prizes at audio system competitions in Taiwan and mainland China, which has helped us to build a solid reputation among car audio consumers.
